A sought-after speaker and author of the page-turner “Breaking the Trust Barrier”, JV Venable teaches, entertains, and inspires audiences around the world.

JV draws on more than thirty years of experience to teach people how to lead high performance teams by breaking down the barriers of trust. His programs on building the following of a lifetime are in global demand, and in showing clients not just “how to” but also “why to,” he sirs individuals and companies to create real, lasting change.

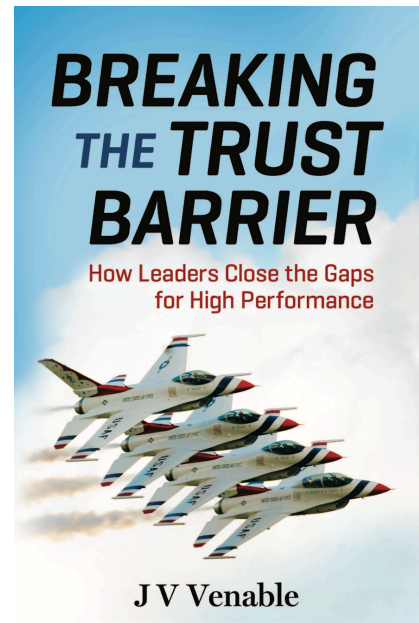

Today, JV’s keynotes and workshops attract many diverse audiences, from small businesses to global associations. He lives in Springfield, Virginia.

- 30 years leading, refining, inspiring and motivating individuals, teams and organizations.
- 15 years informing, inspiring, motivation and entertaining audiences throughout North America and Europe.
- Served as the Commander and Demonstration Leader, USAF Thunderbirds, flying the lead in every airshow for two years.
- Graduate of the USAF Fighter Weapons School (Top Gun)
- Commander of US Air Force’s largest Expeditionary Group
- Author of Breaking the Trust Barrier, to be released in June 2016 in paperback and Audio Book.

In JV Venable's new book, Breaking the Trust Barrier (18.95, June, 2016, Berrett-Koehler), Venable uses hundreds of personal stories – some humorous, but all indelible, to bring the the Thunderbird process of building and leading high performing teams to life. Breaking the trust barrier is a repeatable, predictable, and measureable process. It is also simple, capable of being adapted by any leader any time, and in any situation.

Carrying a follower across the threshold of trust is magical. This is where the jets behind you begin to take the drag from your wake — where your people are close enough to remove weight from your efforts, allowing you to accelerate your team to a speed that no one could achieve alone.

Whether you are looking forward at your boss, or behind at a follower, a failure in trust will cause those around you to back away. The additional space will give them more time to crosscheck the available positional cues, and enough separation to maneuver around your next failure.
